“I see balls of all different sizes flying around. They can change direction and speed or stop suddenly midair. They are different sized and colors and change into random shapes. They can be silent or make different sounds. They can move through any object, including people.”

Bill Greene was born in South Boston, MA to parents who had recently arrived from Canada. He spent most of his childhood in Dorchester, MA, and his adulthood in Weymouth, MA. Bill retired in his late 50's and moved to the Cape full time a few years later.
