

Carol Procter

ARTIST STATEMENT

I grew up in Dedham, MA and earned my Bachelor and Master's degrees at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

I retired in 2003 after 38 wonderful years as a cellist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. I had also been creating collages and doing energy healing during that time.

My partner, Barbara, and I lived in Cambridge and owned a condo in what is fondly known as "Garbage Gables" in the East end of Ptown. When we got an offer we couldn't refuse, we let it go.

When I retired I bought a "Kodak Easy Share" camera and we started traveling to new corners of the world not included in the BSO tour schedules.

We felt the magnetic pull of Provincetown luring us back, so we decided to buy a condo at Seashore Point when it was just a hole in the ground. It was one of the best moves we have ever made. We love the creative environment, culture, nature, and our new friends in town and at the Point.

You can often see me sitting on our patio herb garden, Nikon in hand, waiting for the geese to fly by at sunset. So far, it seems that they prefer to pose only on terra firma, but I am patient.

I hope you enjoy my work.