Jane Paradise is a Provincetown based photographic artist. The core of her work is connections – whether momentary or lasting with both people and their environment.

Paradise's work tends to explore the boundaries of being part of/not part of different communities. She photographs on the edges of different communities that she would like to be part of or will never be part of. She frequently wanders the streets photographing on the edges, being an outsider, and yet, in some circumstances having the luxury and honor of being a part the culture.

She travels through the world searching for "home". Her work anchors her in this world and connects her to others who travel and wander.
