Portuguese Bakery

18" x 24"

Roberta Stone is a Boston and Provincetown based photographer.

'Portuguese Bakery' is from a series of photographs "Provincetown: Dusk To Closing" ; made in a town known for its incredible light and picturesque vistas on summer days. Yet, I find the stark contrasts of low light and the eclectic gatherings of people that can be found in evening street life to be exciting for both their visual beauty and their uniqueness. I have striven to capture the gestures, colors and private moments that to me represent the mystique of Provincetown embedded in a veneer of honky-tonk and commercialism. Each frame reflects the ambient light and is filled with its own story and colors. None of the subjects in these photos are posed.
